Children Protection Plans

Each of these planning levels can be uniquely structured to reflect your situation and objectives

	College Kids Protection Plan	Minor Children Protection Plan
YOUR SITUATION	Should you require medical treatment or you are unable to make decisions for yourself, your parents cannot decide for you now that you are legally an adult. They would have to go to court and convince a judge to allow them to make health care decisions on your behalf. That can be a time consuming process and it can be costly. As an adult, your parents cannot take financial actions in your name as well, such as paying your credit card bills. If you want your parents or adult family member to have the ability to make medical and/or financial decisions on your behalf, if you are unable to do so, the College Kids Protection Plan is for you.	If you have minor children and you are concerned that if something should happen to you, you won't be able to communicate your wishes to loved ones with clear instructions about who is to care for your children and how they are to care for them, you need a Minor Children Protection Plan. For parents – and grandparents – of minor children, estate planning reaches beyond simply minimizing estate taxes and ensuring that your property ends up in the right hands. You also want to know that if illness, injury or death leaves you unable to care for your minor or special needs children, that they will be raised by the persons of your choosing and that your child's financial, emotional and spiritual needs will be met.
